

Notas de Antropología de las Américas

Call for Papers

The Department of Anthropology of the Americas at the University of Bonn invites the academic community to submit articles for the first issue of Notas de Antropología de las Américas (NAA, Notes on Anthropology of the Americas), an international journal that aims to promote multidisciplinary work in the social sciences with a focus on Latin America. Unpublished proposals on anthropological, archaeological, historical, linguistic, ethnohistorical and related disciplines research will be received. We also welcome students' work from seminars, internships, fieldwork or final B.A., M.A. and/or PhD dissertations, which provide original contributions to their discipline.

The NAA journal is planned as an open-access electronic periodical publication, which will have its own ISSN for proper identification.

All manuscripts submitted to NAA will be evaluated and subjected to peer review. We accept the following types of contributions:

Articles

- Regular Articles, with a maximum length of 50,000 characters.
- Themed Articles, with a maximum length of 25,000 characters.

Reports

- Book Reviews or Bibliographic Balances of texts published from 2018 onwards, with a maximum length of 7,000 and 25,000 characters, respectively.
- In Memoriam, with a maximum length of 7,000 characters.

Sources

- Transcripts of historical sources and/or documents, which must include a critical analysis or commentary, with a maximum length of 25,000 characters.

Characters include spaces. Submissions can be sent in German, Spanish, Portuguese or English.

- Articles should be submitted no later than August 31, 2020.
- Publication guidelines for the journal are available on the website of the Department of Anthropology of the Americas: <http://iae.uni-bonn.de>.
- For more information, please contact the NAA Editorial Committee at naa@uni-bonn.de.